Beginning April 1, traffic on Normal Boulevard from South to S. 56th streets will be restricted to single east and westbound lanes. PUBLIC INVITED TO SEE RENOWNED SCULPTOR AT WORK

The public is invited to visit with nationally recognized sculptor Benjamin Victor this week as he works on a new Standing Bear memorial sculpture at the Jayne Snyder Trail Center in Union Plaza. The hours are 1 to 4 p.m. today through April 4 at the Trail Center, 228 N. 21st Street.

Victor has been commissioned to create an 11-foot bronze sculpture of the Ponca Chief to be placed on Centennial Mall this fall in connection with the State's Sesquicentennial Celebration. The memorial is made possible by a gift from the Foundation of Lincoln native Donald Campbell, whose family owned the Miller and Paine department store. Judi M. gaiashkibos, Executive Director of the Nebraska Commission on Indian Affairs, met Campbell while both served on the Doane College Board.

"Don was so moved by the story of Standing Bear that he later contacted me about commissioning a monument," gaiashkibos said. "We determined the Capital City was the best location and worked with Mayor Beutler and Lincoln Parks and Recreation to find the right spot on the newly renovated Centennial Mall. Don's vision and support are making it possible for many generations of Nebraskans to hear and be inspired by Standing Bear's incredible story."

After the government forced his tribe to move from Nebraska to Oklahoma, Standing Bear returned to his native land to bury his son and was arrested. His landmark trial in 1879 in Omaha established that Native Americans are "persons within the meaning of the law."

Victor is working on the clay model from which the bronze will be cast. He brought the model to Lincoln from Idaho, where he is an Artist-in-Residence and Professor of Practice at Boise State University. Humanities Nebraska is funding his visit to Nebraska. Other partners in the project are the Lincoln Parks Foundation and the Lincoln Partners for Public Art Development.

In 2005 when Victor was just 26, his sculpture of Native American activist Sarah Winnemucca was installed in the nation's foremost collection, the Capitol's National Statuary Hall. He is the only living artist to have two works in Statuary Hall. Victor recently completed a bronze sculpture of a football player in vintage attire for Peru State College. Art critics and organizations, including the National Sculpture Society in New York City, continue to recognize the aesthetic and conceptual integrity of his artwork. RECEIVED

MAR 27 REC'D

CITY COUNCIL OFFICE

Dear Sir:

Yesterday my day was shattered on learning that a man had been bitten by a Pit Bull-Boxer mix. Pit Bulls are more dangerous than guns. They need to be banned from Lincoln, Nebraska as they are in some other cities.

On the morning of October 16, 2016 as I was innocently walking my dog on 48th Street between Valley road and A Street, an area in which I have walked my dogs thousands of times over the years, a Pit Bull-French Mastiff mix suddenly showed up at our heels. In full attack mode. No leash. No owner in sight. As I tried to pull my dog away from him, he began biting my leg. And he bit and he bit and he BIT! knocking me to the ground, and taking a good-sized hunk out of my leg for his breakfast before turning and chewing on my dog. The wound in my leg, which went nearly to the bone, required three surgeries. Further, it resulted in my being hospitalized for two infections, one the dreaded MRSA. After spending exactly two months in hospitals and rehab centers, I got to come home on December 16th.

And now, nearly six months later, the wound is still not completely healed. The doctor has me on In-Home Health-Care which sends a nurse to my house every day to change the dressing on my leg. He tells me the healing should not take much longer, yet of course has not mentioned a day or an hour at which that long sought healing is to take place. My dog, I should mention, my beautiful Springer Spaniel, required immediate surgery also, but thankfully he has recovered very well.

Obviously the dog attack has resulted in untold medical/hospital/rehab center expenses in addition to the severe pain and suffering I have experienced. The owner of that Pit Bull mix, who was later located, has shown not one speck of remorse. Apparently he could care less. And yesterday, another person was bit and hospitalized by an unruly Pit Bull mix. Can you possibly, in any way, understand why that news ruined my day?

Please ban Pit Bulls and their mixes from the city of Lincoln.

Sincerely,

cc: City Council Members
